

Looking for a Service Opportunity?

St. Paul Intergroup

Invites all interested writers and cartoonists who are members of Alcoholics Anonymous to share their experience, strength, hope and talent by contributing a story or cartoon to our monthly newsletter

The Lifeline

What We Are

The Lifeline is your local Intergroup Newsletter, where we hope you will feel at home. Your written experiences help make The Lifeline a vital part of the St. Paul A.A. recovery community and an effective tool for sharing our sobriety through the program of Alcoholics Anonymous.

Writing for the Lifeline

Articles for the Lifeline can be on a Step, Tradition or Concept, or an experience you would like to share related to your recovery through Alcoholics Anonymous. Suggested length for articles on a Step or a recovery experience is 300 - 500 words. For a Tradition or Concept 100 - 200 words. Please know that articles may be edited for the purpose of clarity, language or length, but don't let that deter you from speaking with your heart! Keeping in mind A.A.'s singleness of purpose, it might help to leaf through some past issues to get an idea of the sort of article we publish, but please don't write with us in mind, write from your own experience, strength and hope!

Cartoons and Drawings

The Lifeline welcomes cartoons and drawing expressing the wry side of the A.A. Experience. So if you have a talent for some good visual "ham on wry," with a hint of "Rule #62," please share it with us.

Due Dates and Particulars

The deadline for submission is the 1st day of the preceding month. For example, if you are writing for inclusion in our March issue, Please submit your article by the First of February. Though we try to match the month to a Step, Tradition or concept (e.g. For January - Step I, Tradition I & Concept I), we are always looking for a change of pace, or new topics to publish, as long as the article relates to the A.A. experience. Please email your submissions to Lifeline@aastpaul.org, or send via the mail to: Lifeline Editor, St. Paul Intergroup, 1600 University Ave #214, St. Paul, MN 55104
