

Step Eleven: Sought through prayer and meditation to improve our conscious contact with God as we understood Him, praying only for knowledge of His will for us and the power to carry that out.

It was through the fellowship of AA meetings and listening that I got over my initial fear of this step. The step scared me because of my childhood conception of a "God." Others had told me what God was, and to be fearful. I had thrown out their conception at age 4 or 5; I couldn't believe the fantastical, miraculous stories I heard in church. I rejected the notion that I had to perform certain rituals, pray a certain way and at certain times.

So when I got to AA, and read the steps, I stopped at this one and felt woefully not up to the task. I wouldn't be able to pray "correctly" and I certainly wasn't going to meditate on the "correct" topics, much less achieve nirvana. So why try? Might as well give up, this stuff may work for others, but it won't for me. "God's will for me?"- what the hell could that be? Mostly what I had understood God's will for me as being was unrelenting misery and a sense of inadequacy around people and relationships with them. Throw in a large dose of childhood exposure to hypocrisy about all things "religious" at home, and I felt I had a recipe for certain failure. More doom.

Luckily, the fellowship of AA had a draw for me. Nowhere else in my 32 years on this planet had I found non-judgmental acceptance. In AA, I found the people weren't power-hungry or political, the sole agenda was really sobriety. That meant I had a chance at success; if I had had to measure up somehow, my ingrained sense of inadequacy would have caused me to check out before I got hurt.

Also luckily, there were 10 other steps to focus on before Step 11. The fellowship and meeting discussion taught me that I could leave my childhood conception of God at the door, and develop my own. I could stop making decisions based on a 5 year old's understanding of spirituality. Then, I could admit I didn't know much, adopt some of your sanity as mine, set down my will for a moment and look around at what it was getting me. Taking inventory of what my will achieved for me, I decided I needed another's counsel (as advised) to cast out the negative understandings of self I had accumulated. After this much work, I was really willing to adopt a new lifestyle and ready to ask a god to help me (I still wasn't sure what that was all about, but I found it unnecessary to know). Making a list of my next tasks, and having that checked over, I set about turning things around, and I learned some things about keeping relationships together. I kept looking for ways I was falling short. Lo and behold, I had by this time spent a lot of time praying, and meditating on what "conscious contact" meant. I had a pretty good understanding of, and with, my God, and I could sometimes get a glimpse of what his will for me was. The "with" part comes from my dialogue with my God.

Then, and only then, as I continued to practice what I had learned, did the ultimate truth come to me; someone pointed out that page 133 of Alcoholics Anonymous states for us exactly what God's will for us is: "to be happy, joyous and free."

The Lifeline: Purpose Statement

The Lifeline is the monthly newsletter of the St. Paul and Suburban Area Intergroup, Incorporated. It is about, by, and for groups and members of the A.A. Fellowship. Opinions expressed herein are not to be attributed to A.A. as a whole, nor does publication of any article imply endorsement by either A.A. or Intergroup. We welcome articles on a Step, Tradition, or Concept, in addition to descriptions of personal experience. We also welcome cartoons and drawings expressing the wry side of our A.A. experience.

Please email your article to lifeline@aastpaul.org, or send it by regular mail to Lifeline Editor, St. Paul Intergroup, 608 Seventh Street West, St. Paul MN 55102. Materials or articles mailed to us cannot be returned unless accompanied by a self-addressed stamped envelope. Intergroup reserves the right to edit submissions for clarity, language, length, and content that might violate A.A.'s Traditions, etc.

Tradition Eleven: Our public relations policy is based on attraction rather than promotion; we need always maintain personal anonymity at the level of press, radio, and films.

As valuable as privacy is to the new members, it is noteworthy that most of them are eager to share their good news of their A.A. affiliation with their families. Such disclosure, however, is always their own choice: A.A. as a whole seeks to ensure that individual members stay as private and protected as they wish, about belonging to the Fellowship; but always with the understanding that anonymity at the level of press, radio, TV, films, and other media technologies such as the Internet is crucial to our continuing sobriety and growth—at both the personal and group levels."

Thoughts from your Board

What I have learned from being on the board of St. Paul Intergroup has been indispensable in my everyday life. None of this has been as graceful as those around me would have liked. (or me most of the time) I have learned how to disagree and not hate those who disagree with me.

I have learned how to follow the traditions and to be a guardian of St. Paul Intergroup's policy's and procedures.

I have learned how to participate in a group conscious decision.

I have learned how good meetings are run with good leaders and bad.

I have learned how to follow thru with a commitment. Even when I don't want to or disagree with the decisions that were made.

I have learned to practice principles before personalities. Including mine at times.

Many more lessons have been a part of my service here at intergroup. Most have directly impacted my life in positive ways. Some of which I'm not even aware of yet. I am grateful for all the time I have been involved in intergroup. I have made dear friends! My hope is that when you read this you too will want to participate in this service opportunity. We are looking for new board members. Please consider giving back & becoming a new board member.

Yours in service,

CJ M., 2019 Member-at-Large

District Eight Report

As I write, we are in the planning stages of our Fall Workshop. The topic is Step 6 & 7. We are planning lunch, with three speakers afterwards followed by an open discussion. It will be held at Calvary Evangelical Lutheran Church, 341 Hamline Ave, St. Paul on November 9th, starting at 11:30 am.

We are also working with St. Paul Intergroup on a movie night on January 18th. More information will be coming later.

Our committees have several projects they are working on. The Grapevine chair is reaching out to various locations to see if Grapevine subscriptions are needed, our Literature chair continues to work with libraries and schools to see if they could use some AA literature, our Accessibilities chair is working on starting a meeting geared to the alcoholic with mental illness among other projects with seniors and veterans.

District 8 has a new Finance chair, but I am still looking for an alternate DCM. If you are interested in this position or would like to help our committees carry the message, please contact me at: dist8@area36.org, 763-516-2165 or come to the district meeting.

The district meeting is the third Wednesday of the month at 7:30 pm, held in Room 108 of the Fairview Community Center on County Road B between Cleveland and Fairview Avenues. Everyone is welcome; you do not need to be a GSR (General Service Representative) to attend.

Thank you for letting me be of service,

Sue M., DCM, District 8

Chair of the General Service Board of A.A.

This is the third of three articles on the servant-leader of the incorporated entities of A.A., the Chairperson of the General Service Board of Alcoholics Anonymous (GSB). The first two, Alcoholics Anonymous World Services (A.A.W.S.) and the AA Grapevine (AAGV) are the affiliate corporations of AA., and as described in earlier articles, have a president (described in the articles) and a Board of Directors who manage these active corporations that provide the majority of active services and publications for A.A., per Tradition Nine and Concept XI.

Based on New York not-for-profit law, the Chair of the GSB would be recognized in the customary role of president. However, nothing could be further from the traditional corporate model than the GSB. The current chair of the GSB is a Class A trustee, Michele Grinberg. While non-alcoholic, Michele knows well how to practice the Traditions in her leadership affairs as chair of the GSB. I could easily begin at Tradition One and share that A.A.'s common welfare is always paramount in her train of thought and action. What makes her more of a coach or, to me, an inspirational servant-leader, is found in the exercising of Tradition Two on the General Service Board. I find this important because Tradition Two is referenced in the Concepts more times than any other Tradition.

Serving as GSB Chair (GSB-C) does have some important responsibilities. First, the GSB-C is an ex officio member of every committee of the GSB. That's a lot of committees! With ten primary committees and six secondary committees on the GSB, even monitoring the sixteen committees is a daunting task, not to mention the always-present ad hoc committees. Add active consultation on a regular basis with the chairs of the two affiliate corporations, and few would envy the time required to be engaged in all these operational committees. But beginning with Tradition Two, where group consciences take place at all these Tradition Nine service boards and committees, I'm estimating our Chair can rest a bit easier, knowing that being part of a greater whole -- one of twenty-one trustees -- the GSB listens for a loving God's voice arising from the voice of the group conscience.

But spirit and grace still requires action on our part as trusted servants, and the GSB-C is no exception. With the GSB as the arm of the General Service Conference (GSC), oversight of the handoff of Conference Advisory Actions is the GSB-C's responsibility. Quickly of course, the information is dispersed to the fore-mentioned committees and affiliate corporations to accomplish the work of the fellowship between conferences.

The GSB-C chairs the Annual GSB Members Meeting in April, the July, October and January Quarterly Board Meetings of the GSB, and also co-chairs the GSC. In between Board meetings, the GSB-C may act for the GSB in various matters of business. With four regional forums each year, invitations to areas and regions, the GSB-C is a frequent participant in many A.A. events. To-date, the GSB-C has been a Class A/non-alcoholic trustee, and hence, has served as a representative for A.A. in matters of public relations. For example, at a recent convention Michele delivered the first copy of the Big Book that was compiled into an audiobook spoken and recorded in Navajo.

The epitome of servant-leadership is illustrated in how the GSB-C chairs the GSB Trustee Sharing Session. This Sunday afternoon meeting of GSB trustees meets to cover a wide range of long-term planning issues and topics of special interest. The GSB-C publishes an agenda based on her Concept-Eight-directed thoughts on what the GSB must focus on to plan, manage and execute in the areas of group relations, public relations, finance, leadership and policy. In true democratic fashion, the first order of business is to obtain a group conscience on how to prioritize the agenda. The closing item in true A.A. fashion is an opportunity for informal trustee sharing.

There are many ancillary tasks and responsibilities too numerous to mention in this article, but a few other notable tasks include calling additional GSB meetings in times of urgency, executive sessions for confidential business matters during normal business weekends and coordinating agendas with the Staff Coordinator.

In addition to all these practical operational items, the GSB Chair shall act using knowledge of A.A. principles and experience, use common sense and insight, have unbiased judgement virtues permeated with ethics and altruism to provide service-leadership in the most exemplary fashion. The time demand for this position has historically been very significant, and A.A. has been the fortunate recipient of many altruistic chairs of the General Service Board.

Yours in service,
Tom A.
WCR Trustee
