

STEP NINE

“Made direct amends to such people wherever possible, except when to do so would injure them or others.”

This one sounds simple. And, true, it does not involve some of the more complicated mental probing required by several of the other Steps.

Having already made a list, in applying the 8th Step, “of all persons we had harmed, and became willing to make amends to them all,” the path is clearly defined with all stops plainly marked. All we have to do now is start doing.

But the “doing” is not easy. It takes considerable courage to confess a wrong, even in private, and much more courage to confess it to the person against whom the wrong was committed.

The list very likely includes one or two previous employers whom we deceived in one way or another; friends whose friendship we abused; relatives whose sense of blood obligations we exploited; the mate whose trust, patience and persistent hopes we flaunted. To each we owe a debt, large or small, and merely saying “we’re sorry” does not discharge the debt.

In fact, we actually do not have the right to the inward ointment that comes from saying we’re sorry, unless we also have within us a sincere willingness to repay in full, whatever effort this may cost, and an equally sincere determination not to repeat the wrongs against anyone.

Most of us, by the time we reach A.A., have been going around for a great many years saying “we’re sorry” after each wrong and lightly thinking that these words made everything all right again.

We’ve been annoyed if someone did not seem to accept our apologies as meaning much. How many can hark back and hear himself saying, petulantly, “What’s the matter with him? I said I was sorry, didn’t I?”

The 8th and the 9th Steps call for something more substantial, more tangible, more meaningful than words spoken casually. If it’s money that is owed, it has to be paid back to the limit of ability to pay. If it’s a debt of meanness, it has to be paid off with kindness. If it’s neglect, as it is so often of one’s family, then it can be balanced only by consideration and thoughtfulness. And let’s not forget that debts of this kind-- of neglect, thoughtlessness, mistreatment--have been piling up for years. They can’t be paid off in two weeks.

The qualifying phrase, “except when to do so would injure them or others,” should prevent anyone from being righteously bullheaded, or stupidly “noble” about this. We are scarcely making amends if we dig something out of the past in which we had a part that will hurt someone else. The privilege of confession does not extend that far.

A helpful guide in the application of the 9th Step is the reminder that by making amends, where we can, we are doing no one else a favor; a favor is done us if those we have wronged accept our offer.

TRADITION NINE

“A.A., as such, ought never be organized; but we may create service boards or committees directly responsible to those they serve.”

The Ninth Tradition may easily be the most confusing Tradition of all. Just what does “organized” mean here? Many A.A.’s have read the Tradition Nine essay in the “Twelve & Twelve” and been left still scratching their heads. The following excerpt from Alcoholics Anonymous Comes of Age (pp. 125-127) might help, because it uses concrete examples to show what kinds of events led to this Tradition. — Ed.

Additional Thoughts by Bill W.

Considering how most of us have really loved controversy, this denial of the privilege of attacking something or somebody in public is no small achievement for the naturally aggressive people that we are. To make our survival as a fellowship sure, we have often gone far in the opposite direction. Years ago, for example, we stood in great fear of the misuse of the A.A. name by A.A.’s and outside groups who wanted to use it for their own money-raising, controversial, or public purposes. And we reflected that the bigger A.A. grew, the greater this temptation would surely be. Therefore we felt we had to find a way legally to protect the precious name of our society.

Our Trustees were advised that this could be done only by incorporating the name Alcoholics Anonymous in every state of the Union and in all foreign countries. We actually began this tedious, complicated, and expensive task, which finally bogged down in a mass of technicalities, red tape, and charters.

But the issue was revived with a bang when one of the large motion-picture producers suddenly came up with a script for a picture which they were going to call Mr. and Miss Anonymous. The proposed portrayal of A.A. seemed pretty lopsided and in rather bad taste.

Though they agreed to change the title, the company refused to do much of anything about the objectionable script. What, then, could we do about it?

We concluded that we ought to ask for an injunction against the company for misuse of the A.A. name. This prospect of legal action caused the company to revise the script more to our liking. Otherwise, we might have sued, forgetting all about A.A.’s principle of non-controversy in public. We were that excited.

After this moving-picture incident, our chairman, Bernard Smith, came up with what looked like a wonderful idea. As a lawyer, he thought Alcoholics Anonymous could easily obtain a Congressional Charter, an act of Congress which would protect the A.A. name everywhere.

This would put us in the same class as the Red Cross and several other notable organizations. It was thought that the mere existence of such a charter would restrain nearly all those who might be tempted to misuse A.A.’s name. And a legal bludgeon of this size and weight could easily be used on any who might still defy the law. It looked like a grand idea and we at the Headquarters were all for it.

But the conscience of Alcoholics Anonymous, its General Service Conference, had other ideas. The Conference pointed out to us how foolish it would be to incorporate A.A.’s way of life as a legal instrument with which to attack anyone, no matter what the provocation. We would not be content with such an instrument for purposes of pure restraint. Under enough provocation, we would be bound to start public lawsuits and thus enter the field of public controversy. It would be like building a war machine on the theory that it would always stay home and never fight. It would mean the legal organization of a fellowship whose Traditions insisted on its being unorganized. The Conference thought we ought to forget about the questionable advantages of legality and controversy and rely upon group and public opinion for our ultimate protection. After long debate, we at Headquarters saw that the conscience of Alcoholics Anonymous, acting through the delegates, was wiser than we were. So the Congress of the United States was never asked to incorporate A.A.

WE ARE HIRING!

1. Opened with the Serenity Prayer, Introductions, and read the primary purpose of Intergroup
2. Approved prior month's minutes (motion: second: Angie T. ). Motion passed with a majority vote.
3. Financial Report, Bill C. - see Treasurer's Report for full details. Total contributions for July increased from June and are now even with 2022. Sales dropped slightly from June and are now about $2K below 2022. Operating cash fell from $28K to -$15.5K. Operational expenses this year were higher than last because rent increased, more part-time help, and we budgeted for more staff and a higher pay rate for the office manager. Prudent reserve is at -$49K of its $60K goal. We remain below our needed average in contributions and revenue. If you have questions, email treasurer@aastpaul.org
4. Office Report - Frank N - see Office Report for full details.
5. Night Owl Report - Rachel P - There are currently 7 open shifts, which are listed on the Intergroup website. If you're interested in helping out, please contact the committee at nightowl@aastpaul.org. Orientation is on the 3rd Saturday @ 10AM.
6. Web Report - Jonathan L. - renewed hosting agreement, so we have a place to host the website for the next year
7. Update from the Board - Eliot W. Tom (Outreach) let us know that there are no MIA meetings in the directory - thanks, Tom! We went over upcoming events. We have some events in November that we will touch on more later in the Events sections. Our old business that we went over - a joint NYE event with Minneapolis, setting up recurring online donations - resulted in the creation of a finance committee for further investigation on this matter. Other topics included the hiring committee for an office manager (we are looking over resumes, we have received a few so far), we went over our AAWS outstanding bills and motioned to get those paid off (approx $2600-2700). Frank was elected as the interim office manager. We discussed cleaning up the Bylaws and creating a one-pager job description to circulate information in advance of elections in November.
8. District Reports - District 8 - no representative present. District 15 - Just completed Washington County Fair assignment (all 40 slots filled). Reimbursed fair admission fee for all volunteers so it did not cost them to volunteer. Meg H (Area 36 delegate) hosted at the end of July to give an update on the General Service conference. Her powerpoint is available on the Area 36 website. Next Sponsorship forum - September 12th - Christ Lutheran Church in Lake Elmo. Sponsor and Sponsee speaker. This is a quarterly program they provide in D15. Item for future interest: lit chair for Area 36 wants to do a joint workshop on the service manual later this fall. District 19 - no updates.
9. Intergroup Events: Ice Cream Social, August 19th, 4:30PM at Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. There will be ice cream, a newcomer intro speaker, and 4 long timer speakers. We need volunteers for this event. Contact chair@aastpaul.org if you would like to volunteer. Gratitude Night (Nov. 18th) - this will be held 6-10PM at Lutheran Church of the Redeemer. Founders Day (Nov 25th) - SPI will be selling literature at this event. For more information visit foundersdaymn.org. DoubleTree in Bloomington (same location as Gopher State Roundup).
10. Old Business - Minneapolis Intergroup approached us about the idea of having a joint NYE event. Thoughts? Given the current finances of SPI, I would be reluctant to have to go to my various meetings and have to sell any kind of new event. Vote: All in favor of having a joint event in conjunction with Mpls Intergroup? 7 - Yes, No - 2? Take it to your group and bring it back to your groups. Last year, Minneapolis had a very well-attended and well-publicized event at 2218 for young people but Minneapolis's NYE event was at a Lutheran Church in Richfield and in the past they've had them at the Convention Center. It was quite the downsizing from what they have had in the past. Without knowing more about it, it's hard to get behind this idea. The board will gather more information while the reps take the idea to their groups of a collaborative event.
11. New Business - Motion to waive the sobriety requirement for secretary position until the end of the year. Secretary position For - 13 Opposed - 0. Motion passed.
12. Eliot W - Motion to waive bylaw requirement and allow Kelly to advance to the Board Chair role despite 5 months of alternate chair rather than one full year in that position. Vote - Yes - 12. No - 0. Motion passed.
13. Group AA Announcements - Firing Line open house anniversary banquet is Sunday, October 22nd. Event starts at 4:30. Food will be provided and a speaker.
14. Suggestions for next month's agenda: Please email secretary@aastpaul.org.

MAKING AMENDS

When I found my way to A.A. in 2005, I thought my only problem was that I drank too much. Period. Of course I was also broke, in debt up to my armpits and my health was suffering. But at the root of all those problems, I thought, was that I drank too much and way too often.

I was wrong. I soon found out that my real problem was that I was completely self-absorbed and was unable to have any kind of meaningful relationship with anyone. I pooh-poohed God or anything even resembling Spirituality. I had been taught that Knowledge was the Ultimate Authority and everything else was essentially unnecessary.

That false perception would soon change as I began to work the Twelve Steps with a sponsor, and the one step which would ultimately change me forever was Step Nine. I did as I was directed by my sponsor. I made a list from my Fourth Step and prayed for willingness. My first amends went well and I began to see the Promises coming true.

Even though I had no money to make financial amends at this point I was told to pray for the willingness and pick up a phone and call my creditors to try to make some kind of arrangements. I met with all of the people on my list that I was physically able to, and I felt pretty good about myself for doing "such a good job" of repairing my past.

Then I came to a name on my list which I feared the most; my father. My dad was an abusive alcoholic and as children my brothers and I were often the targets of his rage. I talked to my sponsor about it and told him I really thought there was nothing that I could amend with my father because he had "obviously hurt me worse than I had hurt him." My sponsor asked me if what I had told him on my Fourth Step was true; that as a teenager I had spent days away from home without my parents ever knowing where I was or whether

I was alive or dead. He asked me if it was true that I had threatened to kill my father.

And then he asked me the question which changed my perception forever. He asked if I thought that was how a son was supposed to act towards his Father, regardless of how I had been treated? In light of the work I had done thus far, did I still believe I was justified in my actions towards him? I asked God for an answer and the next day I made a call to my father and I made my amends.

When my Father died two years later, there was no more hatred in my heart for him, nor did I feel sorry for him. I was not glad that he was gone. What I felt was compassion and an understanding that there was a sick man. I should never treat sick men poorly. It is a lesson which I carry with me always these days and one which I learned for the first time as a result of working the Ninth Step.

THOUGHTS FROM THE BOARD

THE CAKEWALK

Earlier this year, Saint Paul Intergroup held an event called "The Spring Fling." It was an afternoon of activities, food, and fellowship, followed by an evening of speakers. I was part of the team that was on site to help with organizing and helping out as needed. There was bingo, face painting and art projects for kids (of all ages). I knew in advance that one of the activities was called a "cake walk." I'll be honest, I had no idea what a cake walk was, so I googled it to find out. It's actually musical chairs and the winner gets cakes!

During the afternoon, people were arriving and I was helping at the door. A group of gents arrived who were residents of a nearby sober house. One of them had tattoos on his neck up to his chin and a long braided pony tail. He appeared to be in his late twenties. He quietly said that he didn't have any money and asked if he would still be able to come in. I assured him and some of the others they were welcome. I'll be honest, I thought to myself that they would probably not be interested in the Cake Walk. Boy was I wrong! They laughed and whooped and hollered as the music played and they walked in the circle around the chairs with others, including a boy and a girl who were about seven or eight years old. And when the music stopped...a mad scramble to find a chair. Slowly but surely, everyone was eliminated, including the two young folks, except for two of the gents from the sober house. When the music stopped, there was a winner who received two cakes. And what did he do? He gave the cakes to the two kids.

This, to me, epitomized one of the reasons for Saint Paul Intergroup's existence: to plan and host events that bring people together, especially folks new to AA. As it says in the Big Book on page 89: "Frequent contact with newcomers and with each other is the bright spot of our lives."
